The International Group of Ex Libris Users

About us

Aims

The main task of the IGeLU (International Group of Ex Libris Users) organization is to promote the exchange of information among the users of Ex Libris products and to enhance their library services by sharing information, documentation, and resources.

A further important task of IGeLU is to develop and improve communications with the national user groups to promote their needs and to represent the international user community in dealings with our vendor, Ex Libris.

Membership

Any institution with a contract for an Ex Libris product can become a member of IGeLU. The annual fee is currently 250 Euro per institution. Join nearly 300 other member institutions of IGeLU from more than 30 countries world wide!

IGeLU Meeting in Stockholm

Organization

IGeLU is led by a Steering Committee and organized in Product and Special Interest Working Groups. The basic tasks of the working bodies of these groups are the coordination of customer enhancement requests in direct cooperation with the respective product managers of Ex Libris, suggesting and organizing of joint focus groups and of collaborative testing for the respective products or interest fields, promoting information among the users of the respective product and the planning of the content of the Annual meeting.

As IGeLU member you can participate in all activities of the association and use all its resources.

The members of your institution are eligible to serve on the Steering Committee and/or in the working bodies of the Product and Special Interest Working Groups.

Cooperation with Ex Libris

Development cooperation between the international user community and Ex Libris has grown substantially over the years. In the meantime it covers all aspects of the product development: fixed procedures for enhancements and collaborative testing of existing products, development and implementation partnerships for new products, joint focus groups for major new product developments and covering of strategic topics in the library world.

IGeLU Meeting in Brno

As an IGeLU member your institution can vote on enhancement requests for contracted products and suggest a member for the joint focus groups or become one yourself.

IGeLU conferences

The Annual IGeLU meetings cover a broad agenda of user experiences and Ex Libris demonstrations. These are great forums for information exchange among the international user community and for discussions with our vendor. A high attendance of Ex Libris staff offers a great opportunity to talk to product managers and developers directly.

As an IGeLU member, representatives of your institution can attend the annual meetings at a reduced fee.

Communication and information

In order to promote communication within the user community and with Ex Libris, IGeLU operates its own Website and a general mailing list as well as product specific lists. The product specific mailing lists are opened to all Ex Libris customers. The general list to IGeLU members only.

The IGeLU Newsletter informs members of all important association activities, the annual meetings, and other interesting topics.

As an IGeLU member you are entitled to all "members only" information on the IGeLU website and on all of the mailing lists.

Join IGeLU now!

The IGeLU Steering Committee invites your institution to become a new IGeLU member, to participate actively in the work of the association, the information exchange within the international user community, and our development collaboration with Ex Libris!
